WINTER: IT'S COOKING TIME!

By Manuela Schinaia

No matter how much time you spend designing and planning your perfect home, there is always one room that receives the most attention; the kitchen. More than a room for food preparation, it is the heart of the home and deserves to be treated as such.

Karine Foubet knows this more than anyone. Owner of Cannes-based boutique BKA, Foubet is a purveyor of luxury interiors for both home, yacht and chalet, and knows just what magic a feminine touch can give.

She heralds Poliform as the go-to kitchen for any home seeking that added bit of opulence; not only does she and her team take great pride in the quality of materials used in these kitchens, but a more important element is the design - and ultimately - the emotions these kitchens evoke, of the part they will have to play in your home, and family.

It isn't just a case of beauty being in the eye of the beholder. Poliform are continuously proposing new models and conducting research and development to find even better quality materials for their surfaces, as well as ever-lasting technical solutions to increase functionality such as their revolutionary new LED lighting so you can clearly see every masterpiece that you chef up!
